How Can F·E·G·S Help Me Find and Keep a Job?

Family violence can affect all areas of one's life, including employment. Family violence can lead to job loss, lateness or absences from work. Many survivors have limited work experience or long periods of unemployment which makes it difficult to be hired.

FEFS's Center for Women and Families Job Club is a FREE group for job seekers. The Job Club offers:

- Assessment
- Resume / Cover letter assistance
- Interview skills
- Job search techniques
- Access to jobs
- Employment support and counseling

Begins December 11th, 2012
Every Tuesday 10:30 am – Noon
80 Vandam Street, NY, NY - 7th floor

Open computer lab hours:
12 Noon – 2:00 pm

For more information & to register ~ Contact Jessica Mercado (917) 606 -6586.

The Center for Women and Families receives funding from NY State Office of Children and Family Services, New York City Human Resources Administration, and The Robin Hood Foundation, Hedge Funds Care and TD Bank.
